Children are natural yogis. Their tension-free bodies and willingness to play create a fun environment that celebrates the freedom of mind and body within each of us! This class invites children to engage in creative movement-based yogic adventures. Games, songs, animals role play, and toys all help to translate Yoga on a level accessible to this young age group. Classes will explore breathing and strengthening little bodies and minds. Yoga teaches children how to focus, and to control and calm their bodies all while encouraging early investigation of the self, and community.
